NEW.

Still sighs the world for something new
For something new

Implore me—implore you,
Some will or wisp to help pursue

All helpless world, what will it do
Implore me—implore you;

For something new.

Each pleasure, tasted, fades away,
It fades away;

Nor you, nor I can bid it stay,
A dew drop trembling on a spray,

A rainbow at the close of day;
Nor you, nor I can bid it stay;

It fades away.

OLD MAIDS.

Among the foolish prejudices which discredit the judgment of mankind, the prejudice against old maids is one of the most foolish. The very fact that a lady is an old maid, is or ought to be creditable. It is an evidence that she possesses prudence, forethought, and a refined taste—admirable qualities in a woman. It is better to be over prudent than not cautious enough.

The old maid generally has the virtue of prudence in its perfection, she had offers of marriage, no doubt; what lady of 30 and upwards has not?—she has rejected several suitors, and doubtless she has reasons for so doing. Much better is it to be a happy old maid than a miserable wife.

Old maids are often women of superior minds, for more than one reason. In the first place, they have the discretion to be slow in selecting partners in life; and three-fourths of mankind have not the qualifications to make good husbands; it may be supposed that discreet and judicious women will reject three out of four of her suitors. This of course, makes her chances of happiness much greater. The second cause why sensible women are apt to become old maids, is that most men dread them. Yes, it is a fact, that most men dread a sensible woman. It is not uncommon to hear a man who is himself a fool, make disparaging remarks concerning "Female Solomons," "Platos in petticoats," &c. Who has ever known very highly gifted ladies to be popular among their male acquaintance? Men are apt to think that talents do not belong to the feminine mind; and when they have discernment enough to admire a gifted woman as a friend or occasional companion, they rarely think of making her a friend and companion for life. All these things tend to show that sensible and gifted women are most likely to be old maids, and the converse of the proposition holds good with few exceptions—old maids are generally sensible and gifted women.

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACTS.

I saw the temple reared by the hands of men, standing with its high pinnacles in the distant plain. The streams beat upon it—the God of nature hurled his thunder against it—and yet it stood as firm as adamant. Revelry was its hall—the gay, the happy, the young and beautiful were there. I returned—and the temple was no more, its high walls lay in scattered ruins—moss and wild grass grew wildly there, and at the midnight hour the owl's cry added to the deep solitude—the young and the gay who revelled there had passed away.

I saw a child rejoicing in his youth—the idol of his mother, and the pride of his father. I returned, and the child had become old. Trampling with the weight of years, he stood the last of his generation—a stranger amidst the desolations around him.

I saw the old oak stand in all its pride on the mountain—the birds were carolling on its boughs. I returned, the oak was leafless and sapless, the winds were playing at their pastimes through its branches.

"Who is the destroyer?" said I to my guardian angel.

"It is Time," said he,—"when the morning stars fall together with joy over the new made world; he commenced his course, and when he shall have destroyed all that is beautiful of the earth, plucked the sun from its sphere, veiled the moon in blood, yea, when he shall have rolled the heavens and earth away as a scroll, then shall an angel from the throne of God come forth, and with one foot on the sea and one on the land, lift up his head towards heaven, and sweat by Heaven's eternal—Time is, time was, but time shall be no longer."

A DANCING JURY.

The Staunton, Va. Spectator relates that a hungry Jury at a late hour, in Halifax county, commenced a regular dance to the tune of "What did you come from," in the room directly over the court. Whereupon the sheriff was immediately sent by Judge Leitch, with orders to accommodate the Jury with a permanent dancing room, where they would be less liable to be interrupted in their dancing frolic.

This reminds us says the editor of the Portland American, of a Jury we were once foreman of in Detroit. We couldn't agree, and his honor told us that he would keep us there until we did, so we all went back to the jury room, looking at each other mightily blank.

"Well, gentlemen," said we, "its a mighty pleasant prospect we've got before us. What shall we do?"

"Draw lots," said one.

"Lot's be — hem," said another.

"I move, Mr. Foreman, we just tucker old Jebby out. Who has got a pack of cards?" said another.

"Nobody had any. So we got up two or three boxing or wrestling matches, and worked away with great earnestness till one of the jurors cried out,

"There's Mike."

Now Mike kept a capital eating cellar, and the window was open in a second. A string of handkerchiefs was made, with some money, and a note, the end of which was not long in touching Mike's hand.

In a few minutes the "country" embodied in the jury, were seated round a table eating pie and cold chicken, smoking Havana's, and drinking some of the best Madeira in the world. The Washingtonians, we regret to say had not commenced their philanthropic labor.

The result was a battle the noisiest racket you ever heard tell of in those parts.

The only man who maintained the dignity of the body was the foreman. His honor hearing the uproar, ordered us up. We marched into court single file, with only one man who could keep the chalk line.

"Have you all agreed?"

"No, your honor, and we never can."

That's—hic—fact, blaze me if it ain't, added another.

"Silence in court," roared the officer.

"Silence—hic—yourself," again responded the juror.

"Order!" shouted the officer again.

"Order—hic—who?" asked the indignant twelfth part of the "country."

"Mr. Foreman," said the Judge, his eyes sparkling with mirth, "I perceive that your discussions have been unusually exciting, and therefore shall discharge you from the further consideration of the case."

Off the Jury went tumbling over one another and the benches in the most ludicrous confusion.

AN AMERICAN CHARACTERISTIC.

Respect for woman is noted by all travellers as one of the noblest traits of the American character. Every where—in public assemblies, stages, railroad cars, steamboats and public conveyances, our citizens evince the greatest regard to the comforts of lady passengers, and a man who would refuse to give up a good seat to a lady, would be justly considered a boor.

SANTA FE EXPEDITION.—Intelligence from Fort Leavenworth to the 9th instant, has been received at St. Louis. An express had arrived from General Kearney's camp. When the express left he was within 130 miles of Bent's Fort, all his forces progressing rapidly and comfortably. Nine deaths had occurred among the volunteers during their progress across the prairies. Rumors were circulating among the traders and Mexicans, to the effect that General Urrea was marching at the head of a large Mexican force for the protection of Santa Fe. Gen. Kearney was rushing on with all possible dispatch, and if his provision wagons kept up, he would not delay at Bent's Fort, but go direct to Santa Fe.

POOR CHANCE FOR THE MEXICANS.—The N. Y. Herald, insists upon it, that its original statement is true, and that "the bombardment of San Juan de Ulloa, is now set down by the administration as part of the measures that will be prosecuted against Mexico, if overtures of peace are not soon received. Tampico, if not already taken, will soon be in possession of our forces; and the bombardment of the Castle of San Juan de Ulloa, and the capture of Vera Cruz, will be the next act in the drama. The time, too, is appointed, for taking Vera Cruz, and we are informed that the beginning of October is set down as the time. For this purpose the administration in prosecuting its arrangements with all the vigor possible; and before that time we will probably see the whole naval force of the country, not otherwise required, in proper condition for the attack."

MATTERS IN OREGON.—There are now about 6,000 settlers in Oregon, one-fourth of whom are foreigners or half breeds, and three-fourths American emigrants. The provisional government is well sustained, justice well administered and the laws properly enforced. The people are industriously making farms and improvements; they now make a considerable surplus of wheat beyond the wants of the territory; they saw and export much lumber, and sell a considerable quantity of fish.

The farmers are getting fine stock of hog, horses, sheep and cattle; they trade principally with the Sandwich Islands, and get supplies of merchandise principally from the Hudson's Bay Company, who supply them with groceries and merchandise on reasonable terms.

Ships ascend the Columbia six miles above the mouth of the Willamette to Fort Vancouver; and twenty miles farther up, the river is interrupted by high perpendicular falls; above that point are several other high falls, and the river is only navigated by birch canoes or light boats that are carried across many portages. Ships ascend the Willamette to within ten miles of Oregon city, and steamboats may come to that city, and at the city there is a perpendicular fall of 25 feet, which affords the finest water power in the world.

FEMALES VOTING.—A proposition is in circulation urging the New York Convention to insert a clause in the constitution allowing women to vote, but whether single or married is not said. Single women formerly voted in New Jersey, but for some cause the law was repealed.

The Boston Times says: "It is said that Mexican custom-house officers are in Matamoros taking note of whatever goods are imported into that place, in order that duties may be levied upon them hereafter when the war is concluded and the town evacuated by the Americans. Such demand for duties on goods imported at the present time may, and doubtless will be prohibited to the Mexicans in the treaty of peace. But the scheme is too stupid to be thought of even by Mexicans."

HINTS TO YOUNG MEN.—Be economical. No matter if your parents are worth millions, it is not the less proper that you should understand the value of money, and the honest, honorable means of acquiring it. What multitudes of young men, particularly in our cities, make shipwreck of reputation and health, and eventually of property, by neglect of this maxim. They are aware that their fathers obtained their wealth by habits of industry, but they are ashamed of the name. They forget that wealth in this country passes rapidly from one to another, and that he who is rich to day may be poor to-morrow; or that he who relies on wealth amassed by his father, may end his days in a pauper house. It is for the young man to say whether by industry and economy he will secure competency and respectability, or by idleness become a worthless beggar and a sponging outcast.

The envious man is made gloomy not only by his own cloud, but by another man's sunshine.

The greatest treat of the season, De Meyer's Concert, takes place at the Ocean House this evening, and we have no doubt that this spacious Hall will be well filled. We would advise those who wish to get good seats, to procure their tickets early.

Yesterday we said something in regard to the steamer Oregon's getting beat by the Atlantic, but it seems that the Oregon did not run at the top of her speed during that race, for we understand she run by the Atlantic on Wednesday night, without any trouble.

THE PRESS.—Douglass Jerrold says, the power of the press is, as boundless as that of society. It reaches the throne—it is enclosed in the cottage. It can pull down injustice, however lofty, and raise up lowliness, however deep. It castigates crimes which the law can only punish without repressing them. Wherever an eye can see, or a hand can write, there is the press. Persons in tribulation rely on it for redress, and they feel sure that wrong will not go unpunished if it be known to the journals. Like light, it penetrates into every nook and corner of society, and carries help and healing on its beams. It rises above abuse in the bud. It stops the tide of tyranny when setting in full flood. It derives its vast power from the principles of its being. Speaking out truth and representing reason, it concentrates on one point the whole moral power of society, and persuades and governs without violence, by the mere knowledge that the physical power of society is always ready to vindicate the right. As it comes into operation, the course of society becomes uniform and equal, and its ends are obtained without those convulsions and rebellions by which a rude, unfettered people make their will known.

No man ever regretted that he was virtuous and honest in his youth, and kept aloof from idle companions.

PEACHES FOR NEW YORK.—The steamer Mohagon left Delaware City last Tuesday evening, for New York, by sea, with 1700 baskets of peaches. She returned, and on Friday evening left with 3000 baskets.

OFFICER SHOT.—Godfrey Pope, who was an officer of the Kentucky Volunteers, was recently shot near Matamoros by a sentinel. It was late in the evening, or night; the sentinel challenged Mr. Pope as he approached him; he continued to advance without giving the countersign, whereupon the sentinel fired and killed him. He was put under arrest, but on an investigation of the unfortunate occurrence, he was discharged.

An almost instant cure for dysentery, cholera morbus and all ailments of that class, says the New York Sun, will be found by taking a large tablespoonful of common table salt, and two teaspoonfuls of vinegar. Put into a half pint of hot water and drink as warm as possible. Although unpleasant to drink, you will find relief as soon as the nausea of the draught has passed.

PERFUME FOR CLOTHES.—Take an ounce of cloves, one of cedar and one of cedar and one of rhubarb, pulverize and sprinkle them in a drawer or chest in which clothes are to be placed. It will prevent moths from injuring the clothes, and create an excellent scent.

A French lady, seeing the funeral procession of her husband, exclaimed, "Ah, how happy would my poor husband be if he could see this sight, as he was remarkably fond of such ceremonies."

THE DEAD ALIVE.—At Shreveport, La., a few days since, an old negro man, belonging to Mr. Boyman, supposed to be dead, was conveyed to the grave-yard, but made a noise in the coffin as they were putting him in the grave. The coffin was opened, and he was found to be living, and conveyed home.

Wyatt, the murderer, was executed pursuant to sentence, at Auburn, at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. On being informed that he must be hung, he acted perfectly frantic, remarking that it was hard to be hung for killing such a poor miserable creature as Gordon, and was sorry he had not killed two or three of the keepers; then he would have been satisfied.

Mr. Whockhagen, demagogue agitator, who arrived in the United States a short time since, fell down stairs the other day in New Jersey, and dislocated three syllables in his name.

Owing to previous arrangements Manchester & brother will be under the necessity of closing their Daguerreotype Rooms, corner of Thames and Mary-streets, Newport, within a short time, (probably eight or ten days), therefore would say to the good people of this place who wish to present their friends with an invaluable memento, that they can never do better than to give us a call soon. Young lady, bring in that venerable father and watchful mother, and secure a good likeness to-day, for to-morrow it may be too late. Mothers, bring in those little ones with curling hair and sparkling eyes; they will make pretty pictures, and then should they be taken from you, you can exclaim, in the language of the poet:

"Gone to their rest, yet we would not recall them
Back to this region of sorrow and pain;
Gone to their rest where no ill can befall them—
Yet we have their likeness both perfect and plain."

DIED.
In this town, on Thursday, Abby, daughter of James M., and Charlotte McVile, aged 22 months. Funeral at their residence in Elm street, to-day, at the usual hour.

CORNS!
MADAM BERNHARD, Corn Doctor, (from Paris) politely announces her arrival from N. York, to the citizens and visitors of Newport, and will feel obliged to those who will honor her with a call, at Mr. ELISHA S. KENYON'S, corner of Thames and Young streets, the honor to inform the public that, by a new and peculiar method, she extracts Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Callosities, &c., Without Cutting.

Madam B. does not attempt to offer a nostrum, requiring secrecy or faith to require its efficacy, but confidently assuring those who may suffer from troublesome and painful Corns, that they may have the satisfaction of carrying away their tormentor, their Corn, in their hands.

Madam B. has been practising in the U. States for six years, and in that time she has received testimonials from some of the most eminent ladies and gentlemen, as to the benefit and comfort which they have received since their feet have been attended to by her. The operation will not occupy more than 10 minutes, and the relief is so instantaneous that persons thus treated can put on their shoes and walk without the least inconvenience.

Madam B. has practised her profession for several years in Boston, New York, Germany, France, and England, and has acquired much skill, and great practical experience—a fact attested by numerous certificates from the most celebrated physicians both of Europe and America, as well as from the nobility and gentry of those countries, delivered to her after four months' cure.

Ladies and gentlemen will be waited upon at their residence.

Ladies and gentlemen who wish Madam B's services, are invited to call as soon as possible.

Madam B. has in her possession upwards of 1,500 certificates.

From the Philadelphia Enquirer and Courier
RELIEF TO THE AFFLICTED.—We alluded a few days since to the remarkable, efficacious and painless method adopted by Madam Bernhard, of 459 Broadway, N. Y. and 151 Court street, Boston, in extracting Corns and curing troublesome Bunions of the feet. We are now induced to refer again to the subject, partly in consequence of more than one friend having called upon us to record their testimony as to the sudden and entire relief they have experienced from the operation of Professor's, and chiefly because so many persons are in the habit of advertising remedies for Corns, &c., which are mere empiricism and pretence.

The parties who are now in our office, and who have been under the treatment of Madam Bernhard, assure us that they did not experience the slightest pain during the process of extraction, and that it was accomplished with an almost magical celerity. We observe also that some of the most eminent Physicians, both of Boston and New York, as well as of this city, have given testimonials to the above effect to Madam Bernhard, the writers having experienced a relief from Corns, which had pained them for years. From the Boston Atlas.

Madam Bernhard, at 151 Court street, is said by those who have experienced relief at her hands, to effect a radical cure of the most inveterate corns. There is said to be no mistake about it. It is a great discovery, and we recommend all the afflicted to try.

From the Brooklyn Daily Advertiser.
A BEAUTIFUL YOUNG LADY residing in W. street in this city, has received great and unexpected benefit from the use of that excellent specific RADWAY'S CHINESE MEDICATED SOAP.

Some few weeks since she was on a visit to some of her relatives in South New Jersey, where she was very severely bitten by mosquitoes, being at the same time very much exposed to the scorching rays of the Sun, she experienced great pain, and irritation from the effects of the mosquito, and much annoyance from the unnatural darkness of her tanned complexion. We recommended her to use that excellent Medicated Compound, RADWAY'S CHINESE MEDICATED SOAP, she complied with our request, and in three days there was not a single spot, blemish, pimple or blot left upon her skin, and her complexion is now as fair as the lily.

Ladies, secure without delay a cake of this estimable Soap, it will purify your skin, improve your complexion, and remove all disfigurements entirely from the surface of your system. Price 12 1/2 cents per cake. Sold in Newport by R. J. TAYLOR, Agent.

New Store and new Goods, at the old stand, where the public have been favored with so many good bargains. 91 Thames street, one door north of Messrs. W. B. & E. J. SWAN'S. THE PROPRIETOR of this Establishment has the pleasure of informing the people of Newport and its vicinity, that he has leased the new and commodious store, 91 Thames street, for the purpose of carrying on the Ready Made Clothing Business, where the public may be assured that they will always find on hand the largest assortment of Clothing and Furnishing Goods in the place, as well as the lowest prices. If I can but induce the people to call upon me, I will give them the most positive proof of the truth of this assertion, as I am determined to secure for the United States Clothing Store a tremendous run of custom, and, aware as I am, that competition is so severe, that the only mode of success is to offer my Goods at a small advance on Cost.
